

#OneRoomChallenge 6: Pre-Reveal - Chicago Urban Kitchen Remodel

That's right, I got up on the shiny new island for an aerial shot of our galley kitchen complete with farm sink, cabinetry, countertops, and wood sightings.

Guys and Gals! This #oneroomchallenge is a lesson in patience because I'm ready to reveal our full kitchen remodel! But, hold your horses with us for one more week! That patience came in handy during the remodel too, but man, was it worth it! While we will show the full picture next week, I decided if you've stuck with us through our remodel blog posts over the past 6 weeks, you should get bigger previews of sections of our kitchen! And, I stood up on the island for an aerial shot, so that should definitely be featured for your viewing pleasure (above). See more below and imagine it's all put together for a fully functioning, storage-containing, simple and clean condo kitchen.

Also, I just became aware of this awesome home design digital video network: Home Love Network, who is partnering with Calling it Home and HouseBeautiful magazine. They are remodeling and giving away a house, which is pretty cool! We kind of want our kitchen to be featured on their network - just a little bit...

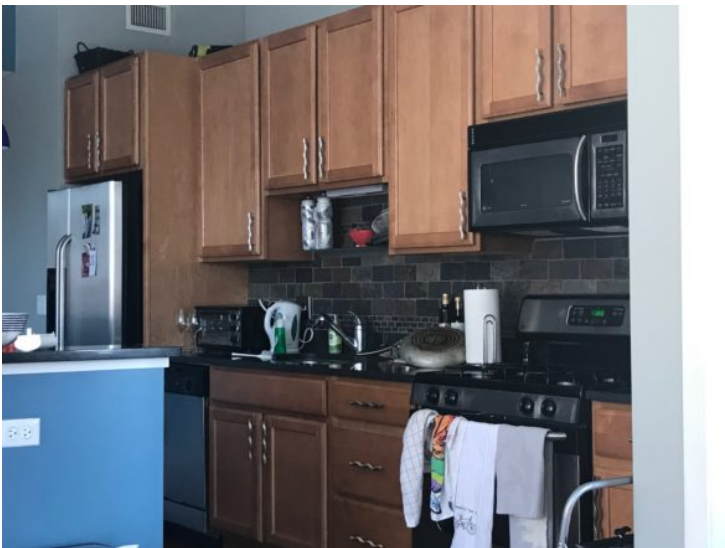

Check out our built in microwave in our island, with built-in pantry to the left (you can't even tell)!

Here's the closest thing to our full kitchen reveal - highlights include full marble small tile backsplash and farm sink.

Don't forget, here's what our kitchen used to look like - pretty cool transformation, we'd say!

Downtown Chicago Condo Before Remodel

Who's ready for the full picture next week? We are!! Oh yeah, and we're getting married next week too! After a remodel and planning a wedding, we're ready to party!
